The Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority (HFEA) was superseded on 15th November 2007 by the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Regulations (The regulations). It was an old law that had not been up to date. The new HFEA Regulations apply in all circumstances, and are more comprehensive than the old law. The old HFEA could not have repealed the old law while still retaining a description (i.e. old HFEA) in the list of authorities. The new HFEA Regulations do not contain a list of authorities. The repeal in the List of Authorities merely means that HFEA is no longer used. Consultation
